Inclusive finance that works for everyone

Access to financial services is foundational for confidence, independence and the opportunity to thrive – for people, for businesses and for communities. It sits at the heart of our purpose of Helping Britain Prosper.

Yet too many people still face challenges in managing their money, building a business or navigating the world of work.

That's why we work with disability organisations, disabled entrepreneurs and accessibility specialists to co-create inclusive experiences, giving people the freedom and opportunity to participate fully and contribute their talent, skills and ideas to a more prosperous Britain.

We're committed to opening up fair, equitable access to the tools, support and opportunities people need to move forward with confidence.

Opening up career opportunities

Our parent company, Lloyds Banking Group wants to represent the communities where we live and work.

Fair, accessible recruitment is essential for opening pathways into meaningful work.

Lloyds Banking Group is recognised as a Disability Confident Leader and holds the Business Disability Forum's Gold Standard, reflecting our commitment to barrier free recruitment. We encourage candidates to request adjustments throughout the recruitment process – extra time, alternative formats, accessible interview locations – so the process works for them as individuals.

For those who join us, our focus is on creating workplaces where people are supported to thrive, with the adjustments and flexibility they need to reach their potential.

As part of this we encourage all our colleagues and line managers to use our disability and neuro-inclusion training, available for everyone on our website.

Accessible everyday banking

Accessible banking tools help make day-to-day money management simpler and support independent living.

We're making changes to support our disabled and neurodivergent customers' everyday banking needs, including:

- Mobile app accessibility features, such as text to speech, voice control and adjustable text sizes.
- Support for d/Deaf customers, including SignVideo, Text Relay and Signly for British Sign Language translations.
- Services for blind and partially sighted customers, including talking ATMs, tactile card markers, audio headsets and Easy Read guides.

Case Study:

Emma Heathcote-James – Founder, Little Soap Company

Emma Heathcote-James launched Little Soap Company from her kitchen table in 2008 with a vision; simple, natural soaps that were kind to skin and planet. Her autism and ADHD shaped a unique way of working that has powered the company's rapid growth from local market stalls to national supermarket listings and a Queen's Award for Enterprise.

Behind the scenes, Emma has built a team that complements her strengths and supports areas she finds more challenging. Today, finance from Lloyds is helping the business expand internationally and invest in new software to drive back-office efficiency.

“Neurodiversity is so misunderstood, but it is something that should be supported in all workspaces. It is imperative for me to have a diverse team. It is critical for that difference in approach and thinking and of course innovation.”

Hear from Emma at the Money Talks Panel on Tuesday 26th March 11.30am-12.10pm.

Backing disabled entrepreneurs

Disabled and neurodivergent entrepreneurs make up around 25% of the UK's 5.5m small businesses.

By creating equal opportunities for disabled-owned businesses, The Lilac Review estimated that £230bn could be added to the economy.

But backing disabled entrepreneurs isn't just about economic growth, it promotes equality, challenges stereotypes and supports a more inclusive and diverse society.

Working alongside Naidex, The LILAC Centre for Disabled Entrepreneurship and Small Business Britain we're helping to build tools and support networks to help disabled entrepreneurs start, run and scale their businesses.

The disabled-owned business hub brings these resources together, offering practical support from mentoring and funding information to accessible resources co-designed with disabled founders.

Disabled-Owned
Business hub
